I am a mom of an addict and was really struggling on how to help him. He had wrecked his life pretty good and was ready for help, so I had to figure it out. I woke up one morning desperate to understand how to help. So I just started googling places in the Austin area and I came across South Meadows Recovery. I spoke with John Brown who happened to answer the phone that day and he really helped me to help my son I am forever grateful. He is in recovery and I'm amazed at the level of compassion, knowledge and professionalism I'm seeing through his recovery. We have a wonderful community for those who struggle with addiction.

South Meadows Recovery has made my transition into Austin a great start. Over the last year I've been able to get more and more rooted into my new city with amazing new experiences, opportunities, and friends. The staff at this IOP cares deeply about the clients they help serve. I have been very blessed to have gotten a chance to spend almost a whole year with Jon Browns WOMENS sober living and cannot wait to watch the houses grow. Above all this start was a right start to my recovery, with a lenient schedule I was able to do both IOP and OP with SMR and couldn't be more thankful.
